

Floyd & Frannie Flamingo

Floyd and Frannie Flamingo grew up in a small town in Idaho where they worked in customer service at a local zoo. They recently retired to the tropical coast as they love sunshine and salt water. As Frannie says, "There's nothing better than day out in the sun." The two of them spend almost every day outside. And they enjoy making the most out of their days by drinking cold drinks and dining on brine shrimp. Be sure to stop by and see them next time you are at the Coast! They love entertaining out-of-town friends!
