

The Turtles

Terry, Tonya and Tim are a "turtle-y" awesome trio. The three of them are the best of friends, spending many of their days talking about life and just how happy they are to know each other. The three of them are health nuts, eating a steady diet of fruits and grasses. They also take part in regular 5k foot races and half marathons. Don't expect this cute trio to finish first. They are often in the back of the pack. Even though they are slow, they always complete their races by taking a slow but steady pace.
