

Frederick & Fiona Fox

Frederick and Fiona have been courting each other ever since their days at Critterville High School. It was fate that brought them together as they were complete opposites. He grew up on the east end of the forest, spending his days keeping watch on the family farm. She lived on the west side, where her parents work in high tech. Many of the Animal House critters still talk about the day they met. It was magical. They saw each other and literally stopped right in their tracks. There was just something about that spark in Fiona's eyes that drew Frederick to her. And there was just something about the way Frederick wagged his tail that captured Fiona's heart. Sparks flew. Right then, two became one. And like all good love stories, this one just keeps getting better.
